

SQE2 Pilot Assessment Specification

31 October 2019

SQE2 legal skills pilot overview

Practice areas and underlying black letter law

The practice areas tested in the SQE2 skills pilot are:

- Criminal Litigation (including advising clients at the police station)
- Dispute Resolution
- Property Practice
- Wills and Intestacy, Probate Administration and Practice
- Business organisations, rules and procedures.

Questions in these practice areas may draw on underlying black letter law in the Functioning Legal Knowledge (FLK) as follows:

- Criminal Litigation: Criminal liability
- Dispute Resolution: Contract law and tort
- Property Practice: Land law
- Wills and Intestacy, Probate Administration and Practice: Trusts
- Business organisations, rules and procedures: Contract law.

Questions on ethics will be pervasive throughout SQE2. Questions involving taxation may arise in Property Practice; Wills and Intestacy, Probate Administration and Practice; and Business organisations, rules and procedures.

Detail of the examinable content covered is given in the FLK (see Annex 2). Property Practice is under the headings freehold and leasehold real estate law and practice and core principles of planning law.

Assessments

The assessments in the SQE2 legal skills pilot are:

- client interview
- attendance note/legal analysis (linked to the client interview)
- oral presentation/advocacy
- case and matter analysis
- legal research
- legal writing
- legal drafting

For the purposes of the pilot, candidates will complete these seven assessments twice (ie they will do a total of 14 assessments) as follows:

1. Seven assessments in a practice area chosen by the candidate (the “specialisation”). For the purposes of the pilot, candidates will be asked to choose between (1) business organisations rules, and procedures and (2) criminal litigation.
2. Seven assessments in practice contexts which range across the five practice areas above (the “common core”), ie there will be at least one assessment in each of the five practice contexts. Advocacy/oral presentation in the common core will always be in dispute resolution or criminal practice.

Annex 1 illustrates the blueprint for the SQE2 skills pilot, first for those taking the criminal specialisation and then for those taking the business specialisation. Please note that for the common core the context for any specific station will vary over time and therefore may not be as illustrated in any future deliveries but there will always be at least one assessment in each of the five practice contexts.

Further detail about each of these assessments is given below [#LegalSkills].

Permitted legal materials for the legal skills pilot

The extent of legal materials provided for candidates will differ between assessments in the common core and those in the specialisation.

We will evaluate the operation of these two approaches in the pilot and our evaluation will inform the decision about how we provide legal materials in the live SQE assessment.

In the pilot, the approach will be as follows:

For the specialisations, candidates will be provided with legal materials that a day one solicitor would usually look up.

For the common core, candidates will be provided with legal materials covering the key issues in the scenario. Some underlying knowledge of basic principles will be assumed but a wider range of materials will be provided than will be provided for the specialisations.

For example, in a criminal litigation scenario, materials explaining mens rea and actus reus will not be provided in either the specialisation or the common core.

The definition of offences may be provided to candidates in, for instance, a charge sheet. Where this is not the case the definition of more complex offences would be provided in both the common core and the specialisation. The definition of well known offences which a day one solicitor would deal with frequently, will be provided in the common core but not in the specialist area.

Any other materials, such as books and notes, cannot be brought into or used during the pilot assessments.

Marking for the legal skills pilot

Overview

The assessment criteria against which candidates will be judged in each of the seven types of legal skills stations are provided on the following pages.

Performance in each of these criteria will be assessed on a scale from A – F by trained assessors making global professional judgements related to the standard of competency of the assessment 1 [#n1] as follows:

A: Superior performance: well above the competency requirements of the assessment

B: Clearly satisfactory: clearly meets the competency requirements of the assessment

C: Marginal pass: on balance, just meets the competency requirements of the assessment

D: Marginal fail: on balance, just fails to meet the competency requirements of the assessment

E: Clearly unsatisfactory: clearly does not meet the competency requirements of the assessment

F: Poor performance: well below the competency requirements of the assessment.

This grading will then be converted into numerical marks such that A = 5 marks and F = 0 marks.

The marking criteria for each of the stations except interviewing have been divided into marks for skills and marks for application of law. Interviewing is assessed in terms of skills only. The quality of legal advice provided to the client as a result of the interview is assessed in the attendance note/legal analysis.

In arriving at a final mark for the candidate across all assessments, skills and application of law are weighted equally. This is to make sure that adequate weighting is given to the quality of the advice provided.

Application of law

The assessment criteria for the SQE2 pilot refer to correct and comprehensive application of law. The following is a non-exhaustive list of what this may include:

- Identifying relevant legal principles
- Applying legal principles to factual issues, so as to produce a solution which best addresses a client's needs and reflects the client's commercial or personal circumstances
- Interpreting, evaluating and applying the results of research
- Ensuring that advice is informed by appropriate legal analysis and identifies the consequences of different options
- Drafting documents which are legally effective
- Applying understanding, critical thinking and analysis to solve problems
- Assessing information to identify key issues and risks
- Recognising inconsistencies and gaps in information
- Evaluating the quality and reliability of information
- Using multiple sources of information to make effective judgements
- Reaching reasoned decisions supported by relevant evidence.

Clear, precise, concise and acceptable language

In the assessment criteria for the SQE2 pilot we refer to clear, precise, concise and acceptable written language. This may include:

- Using the most appropriate style of communication for the situation and recipient
- Using clear, succinct and accurate language and avoiding unnecessary technical terms where they are not appropriate to the recipient.

Assessments in the SQE2 legal skills pilot

1. Client Interviewing

Overview

Candidates will be given an email from a partner or a secretary stating who the client is and providing an indication of what the client has come to discuss. The email may, but will not necessarily, be accompanied by documents. The email may also indicate specific legal issues which candidates should have particular regard to in the interview and the subsequent attendance note/case analysis.

Candidates will have 10 minutes to consider the email and/or documents.

They will then have up to 25 minutes to conduct the interview with the client. The client may be, but will not necessarily be, somebody in vulnerable circumstances.

The client will be played by a trained actor who will assess the candidates on skills.

In the interview candidates should aim to win the client's trust and confidence and to make sure that the client wishes to instruct or continue to instruct their firm. They should try to obtain all the relevant information and as full an understanding as possible of the client's concerns. Candidates do not need to provide detailed advice at this stage. They can conduct the interview on the basis that they will be advising the client in detail at a later date. However, candidates do need to give enough preliminary advice and to address enough of the client's concerns to establish the client's trust and confidence.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to conduct an interview with a client.

Assessment criteria

Candidates' performance in the interview will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Establish and maintain an effective relationship with the client so as to build trust and confidence.
- b. Communicate and explain in a way that is suitable for the client to understand.
- c. Listen to the client and use questioning effectively to enable the client to tell the solicitor what is important to them.
- d. Conduct themselves in a professional manner and treat the client with courtesy, respect and politeness including respecting diversity where relevant.
- e. Demonstrate client-focus in their approach to the client and the issues (ie demonstrate an understanding of the problem from the client's point of view and what the client wants to achieve, not just from a legal perspective).

For further information on marking see [marking for the legal skills pilot \[#Marking\]](#).

Annex 4 sets out the Statement of Solicitor Competence (SoSC).

Annex 5 maps the competences assessed in each of the SQE2 pilot skills assessments against the SoSC.

2. Completion of attendance note/legal analysis

Overview

Candidates will have 25 minutes to write, by hand, an attendance note/legal analysis of the interview they have just completed.

All relevant information obtained during the interview should be recorded in the attendance note/legal analysis. Candidates should provide an analysis of any legal issues that arise in the matter and record their initial advice for the client. The attendance note/legal analysis should also identify the next steps to be taken by the solicitor and, where applicable, the client, as well as any ethical issues that arise and how they should be dealt with. If the email from the partner or secretary has asked the candidate to deal with any specific issues or questions, then advice on these issues should also be included.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to produce an attendance note recording a client interview and initial legal analysis.

Assessment criteria

Candidates will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Obtain all relevant information.
- b. Identify appropriate next steps.
- c. Provide client-focussed advice (ie advice which demonstrates an understanding of the problem from the client's point of view and what the client wants to achieve, not just from a legal perspective).

Application of law

- a. Give a correct analysis of the application of the law to the client's situation.
- b. Give a comprehensive analysis of the application of the law to the client's situation.
- c. Correctly identify any issues of ethical and professional conduct and exercise judgement to resolve them honestly and with integrity.

For further information on marking see [marking for the legal skills pilot \[#Marking\]](#).

Annex 4 sets out the SoSC.

Annex 5 maps the competences assessed in each of the SQE2 pilot skills assessments against the SoSC.

3. Advocacy/persuasive oral presentation

Overview

Candidates are given a case study on which they will conduct a piece of advocacy/make a persuasive oral presentation. An email asks the candidate to conduct the advocacy/make the presentation and tells them before whom this will be made. Where relevant, candidates are also given a file of documents. Candidates may be asked questions during the advocacy/oral presentation. They have 45 minutes to prepare for the advocacy/oral presentation.

Candidates will then have 15 minutes to make their presentation/submission to a decision maker who is present in the room. The decision maker will be played by a solicitor of England and Wales who will assess the candidate both on skills and application of law.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to conduct a piece of advocacy/make a persuasive oral presentation to a judge or decision maker.

Assessment criteria

Candidates will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Use language and behaviour appropriate to the context.
- b. Use a clear and logical structure for the presentation.
- c. Make a persuasive argument.
- d. Engage the audience appropriately.
- e. Include all key relevant facts.

Application of law

- a. Apply the law correctly to the client's situation.
- b. Apply the law comprehensively to the client's situation.
- c. Correctly identify any issues of ethical and professional conduct and exercise judgement to resolve them honestly and with integrity.

For further information on marking see [marking for the legal skills pilot \[#Marking\]](#).

Annex 4 sets out the SoSC.

Annex 5 maps the competences assessed in each of the SQE2 pilot skills assessments against the SoSC.

4. Case and matter analysis

Overview

This is a computer-based assessment. Candidates will be given an electronic file of documents. Some of the documents or content may not be relevant. Candidates will be asked to produce a written report to a partner giving a legal analysis of the case including risks, issues, options and strategies including, where relevant, as part of a negotiation. There will always be an element of negotiation in the common core case and matter analysis assessments.

Candidates will have 60 minutes to complete this task.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to produce a written report to a partner giving a legal analysis of the case and suggesting, as appropriate, options and strategies, including as part of a negotiation.

Assessment criteria

Candidates will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Identify relevant facts.
- b. Suggest and advise on client focussed options, strategies or solutions.
- c. Use clear, precise, concise and acceptable language.

Application of law

1. Apply the law correctly to the client's situation.
2. Apply the law comprehensively to the client's situation.
3. Correctly identify any issues of ethical and professional conduct and exercise judgement to resolve them honestly and with integrity.

For further information on marking see [marking for the legal skills pilot \[#Marking\]](#).

Annex 4 sets out the SoSC.

Annex 5 maps the competences assessed in each of the SQE2 pilot skills assessments against the SoSC.

5. Legal research

Overview

This is a computer-based assessment. Candidates will be required to investigate a problem for a client. They will be given an email from a partner asking the candidate to research an issue or issues, so that the partner can report back to the client. Candidates will have to produce a written note explaining their legal reasoning and the key sources they rely on, as well as the advice the partner should give the client. They will not need to produce a research trail.

Please note that while the subject matter of the research will be within the broad heading of the practice area in which the assessment is set, it may be outside the scope of the FLK, thus requiring research.

For the purposes of the pilot, candidates will be provided with sources for the legal research exercises. These may include both primary and secondary sources. Some of the sources provided may not be relevant.

Candidates will be given 60 minutes to complete the task.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to conduct legal research from a variety of resources provided and produce a written report.

Assessment criteria

Candidates will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Identify and use relevant sources and information.
- b. Suggest advice which is client focussed and addresses the client's problem.
- c. Use clear, precise, concise and acceptable language.

Application of law

- a. Apply the law correctly.
- b. Apply the law comprehensively.
- c. Correctly identify any issues of ethical and professional conduct and exercise judgement to resolve them honestly and with integrity.

For further information on marking see [marking for the legal skills pilot \[#Marking\]](#).

Annex 4 sets out the SoSC.

Annex 5 maps the competences assessed in each of the SQE2 skills assessments against the SoSC.

6. Legal writing

Overview

This is a computer-based assessment. Candidates will be asked to write a letter or an email as the solicitor acting in a matter, which clearly and correctly sets out the law and addresses the recipient's concerns. They will be given an email from a partner explaining what is required. The email may or may not be accompanied by electronic documents. The following is a non-exhaustive list of the possible recipients: a client, a third party, the other side or a partner within their organisation.

Candidates will have 30 minutes to complete this exercise.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to produce a letter or an email as the solicitor acting in a matter.

Assessment criteria

Candidates will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Include relevant facts.
- b. Use a logical structure.
- c. Content is recipient focussed.
- d. Use clear, precise, concise and acceptable language which is appropriate to the recipient.

Application of law

- a. Apply and/or explain the law correctly.
- b. Apply and/or explain the law comprehensively.
- c. Correctly identify any issues of ethical and professional conduct and exercise judgement to resolve them honestly and with integrity.

For further information on marking see [marking for the legal skills pilot \[#Marking\]](#).

Annex 4 sets out the SoSC.

Annex 5 maps the competences assessed in each of the SQE2 skills assessments against the SoSC.

7. Legal drafting

Overview

This is a computer-based assessment. Candidates will be asked to draft a legal document or parts of a legal document. This may take the form of drafting from a precedent or amending a document already drafted but it may also involve drafting without either of these.

Candidates will be given 45 minutes to complete the task.

Assessment objective

Candidates can demonstrate they are able to draft a legal document or parts of a legal document for a client.

Assessment criteria

Candidates will be assessed against the following criteria:

Skills

- a. Use clear, precise, concise and acceptable language.
- b. Structure the document appropriately and logically.

Application of Law

- a. Draft a document which is legally correct (ie accurately gives effect to client instructions).
- b. Draft a document which is legally comprehensive (ie accurately gives effect to all the client's instructions).

- c. Correctly identify any issues of ethical and professional conduct and exercise judgement to resolve them honestly and with integrity.

The single best answer multiple choice test

The pilot also includes a test of the application of the FLK comprising single best answer multiple choice questions. This test will provide data to help inform and extend the analysis to be carried out following the SQE2 pilot.

Using single best answer multiple choice questions in this pilot is for the purpose of enriching the pilot data for analysis. The proposed design of the actual SQE2 assessments does not include single best answer multiple choice questions tests.

Candidates will need to answer 120 single best answer multiple choice questions over two days, as follows:

Candidates taking the business specialisation

These candidates will take the following multiple choice assessments:

- 10 December: 60 single best answer multiple choice questions sampling from all areas of the Functioning Legal Knowledge in Annex 2.
- 11 December: 60 single best answer multiple choice questions sampling from business organisations, rules and procedures, taxation in the context of business; money laundering and financial services; contract law and related questions on ethics, as set out in Annex 2

Candidates taking the criminal specialisation

These candidates will take the following multiple choice assessments:

- 10 December: 60 single best answer multiple choice questions sampling from all areas of the FLK set out in Annex 2.
- 11 December: 60 single best answer multiple choice questions sampling from core principles of criminal liability, advising clients, including vulnerable clients, about the procedure and processes at the police station, criminal litigation and related questions on ethics as set out in Annex 2

These single best answer multiple choice questions test the candidates' ability to apply core legal principles and rules appropriately and effectively at the level of a newly qualified solicitor in practice to realistic client-based and ethical problems and situations.

Each of the questions on the single best answer multiple choice test is followed by five possible answers. Candidates should choose the best answer from the stated alternatives. They should mark only one answer for each question as multiple answers will not be counted.

The single best answer multiple choice assessments will be closed book. The questions in the assessments are designed to test the application of fundamental legal principles which can be expected of a newly qualified solicitor of England and Wales without reference to books and notes. They are not designed to test matters of detail which a newly qualified solicitor would be expected to look up.

Annex 3 - Threshold Standard

Level 3 of the Threshold Standard for the Statement of Solicitor Competence describes the level at which the SoSC competences should be performed upon qualification as a solicitor.

Functioning legal knowledge	Standard of work	Autonomy	Complexity	Perception of context	Innovation and originality
Identifies the legal principles relevant to the area of practice and applies them appropriately and effectively to individual cases.	Acceptable standard achieved routinely for straightforward tasks. Complex tasks may lack refinement.	Achieves most tasks and able to progress legal matters using own judgment, when support is needed.	Able to deal with straightforward transactions, including occasional, unfamiliar tasks which present a range of problems and choices.	Understands the significance of individual actions in the context of the objectives of the transaction/strategy for the case.	Uses experience to check information provided and to form judgments about possible courses of action and ways forward.

Annex 4 - Statement of Solicitor Competence

This statement takes a broad definition of competence as being "the ability to perform the roles and tasks required by one's job to the expected standard" (Eraut and du Boulay, 2001).

The advantage of this definition is that it recognises that requirements and expectations change depending on job role and context. It also recognises that competence develops, and that an individual may work 'competently' at many different levels, either at different stages of their career, or indeed from one day to the next depending on the nature of their work.

The competence statement should be read holistically. By way of example, the requirement in A1e to respect diversity and act fairly and inclusively pervades all areas of work and underpins all of the competences in the statement.
